SEVEN SUITS ARE SETTLED

UP IN COURT HERE

All Suits Resulted From Sale of Building to Mutti, et al, at Geering, Nebraska

Seven different suits, growing out of the controversy of a sale of a building in Geering, Neb., with Oscar L. Mutti, Jacob Haaf and Samuel Robbins of Hopkins, as plaintiffs, against Mr. and Mrs. Howard Garrett and the O. F. Wilson estate, were dismissed in the circuit clerk's office this morning by George Robb Ellison, attorney for the Plaintiffs.

The litigation started after the defendants purchased a farm of about 400 acres near Hopkins from the plaintiffs. Notes, given by the defendants to the plaintiffs for the farm, were taken up when the defendants sold a business building in Geering to the plaintiffs. Mutti, Haaf and Robbins claim the building was not as represented and brought suits to rescind the sale and for the return of the notes they had given.

Under terms of the settlement today the plaintiffs are to keep the building in Geering.

The first suit was for two notes, judgment being rendered by the circuit court here for plaintiffs for $3,760.62. An appeal was taken to the Kansas City Court of Appeals but the appeal was never perfected and the judgment of the lower court was affirmed by the Appealate Court without a contest. The signers on the appeal bond were sued by the plaintiffs and in these two cases the judgment and costs have been paid in full.

In addition to these two cases there were five others. One was on a note for $2,000 and another for the recovery and custody of three second mortgage notes of $3,583.33 each. The case of the three second mortgage notes was tried and judgment was given for the plaintiffs for possession of the notes. Another suit then filed by the plaintiffs for judgment on the second mortgage notes recovered in the previous suit and following this the defendants brought suit for partition of land covered by the second mortgage securing the three notes sued on. All of these cases are being dismissed except the judgment on the $2,000 note, which was permitted to stand.

The firm of Cook & Cummins represented the defendants.

St. Benedict's Pupils to Present a Drama

To Be Given Sunday Evening, September 6, St. Benedict's Church At Burlington Junction.

"Lawrence, the Martyr," a sacred drama in four acts, will be staged by the children of St. Benedict's Church in Burlington Junction on the evening of Sunday, Sept. 6, commencing at 8 o'clock. The drama has its setting in Rome and has for its chief aim to picture forth the conditions during the persecutions of the Christians by the pagans in the early days of christianity. An important feature of the evening's program is the fact that the cast of fifteen will appear in the historical Roman costumes.

CHICKENS PAY KEEVER WELL

REALIZES INCOME OF $1,840.66 IN NINE MONTHS.

FROM $100 INVESTMENT

The Cost of Feed and Investment Leave Parnell Man a Clear Profit of $1,122.66.

There have been several articles published lately that have brought forth what a paying proposition the poultry business has become in Nodaway County and the Democrat-Forum and Tribune has learned of some exceptional records made this year in the county in this line of endeavor. However, the efforts of a farmer living near Parnell in the chicken business is particularly striking.

That he realized a profit of $1,840.66 on an initial investment of $100 and his labor during a period of nine months from his flock of White Leghorns, is rather startling, but it is the record of O. W. Keever, living two miles southwest of Parnell.

The figures, from which the above are based, are taken from the records that Mr. Keever has kept every day, starting December 1, 1924, and ending August 1 of this year. On May 25 he bought 1,000 White Leghorn baby chicks for $100 from G. T. Logan of Parnell. Out of these he sold 300 as roosters for $88.95. The home consumption is not considered in compiling his profits.

Beginning on December 1, to August 1, he had an average flock of 412 out of 1,000 baby chicks. During the nine months' period the chickens laid 58,264 dozens of eggs, which he sold for a total of $1,751.71. He sold 1,000 dozens of this number for setting purposes, securing 20 cents above the market price for the setting eggs or close to $200 more than if they had been sold at market price.

The total income per hen for nine months figures out at $3.95 and the average number of eggs per hen for the period is 148. His total gross income during the period was $1,840.66.

Although Mr. Keever did not keep any feed records, he is of the opinion that the cost of the feed is practically the same as has been determined at the Missouri Agricultural station at Columbia. At the present feed prices the cost for feeding his flock for the nine months' period is $1.50 per hen, or a total feed bill of $618. The cost of his feed for the flock and the original investment figures at $718. Thus he realized a net income of $1,122.66 for his labor and profits.

For a period of one year, based on the nine months' income he received, the flock should bring a net profit of $1,496.88.

Mr. Keever raises chickens as a side line to farming. He is a believer in having comforts on the farm, and his home is equipped with the latest standard conveniences.

Files Suit for $250 Damages in Collision

M. C. Gray Brings Action Against A. Walters for Damages to His Car As Result of Accident.

A suit for $250 damages as a result of an auto collision was filed in the circuit clerk's office today by M. C. Gray against A. Walters. In the petition, it alleges the two cars collided on a corner between Burlington Junction and Clearmont when the defendant neglected and failed to keep to his side of the road. Damages to the Gray car were stated to have been broken fenders, broken radiator, and injuries to frame and steering wheel. The accident took place on July 2, 1925, it was stated.

MAKES APPEAL TO TEACHERS

TO SATISFY CRAVINGS OF COUNTRY PUPILS TO LEARN.

RECORDS WONDERFUL

That the Men and Women From Rural Districts Have Made, Says Iowa Educator.

Program for Tomorrow
Commencing at 9 o'Clock.

Opening exercise—Miss Ardath Conn.

Address, "Physical Education—Homer T. Phillips.

The rest of morning will be devoted to group meetings under the following leaders:

High school section—Supt. W. I. Lewis.

Grade section—Mrs. Theodore Gray.

Rural section—William Tomkins.

No program is outlined for the afternoon but the time will be used for conferences on problems the teachers wish to present.

An appeal to the Nodaway County school teachers to satisfy the cry in the hearts of the country boys and girls to learn, was made by Macy Campbell, head of the department of rural education of the Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Rapids, in an address this morning at the annual plan meeting of the county teachers, which is being held today and tomorrow in the High School auditorium. The title of his speech was, "A Country Boy Plus and Education."

"If, somehow, you can help every boy to satisfy that desire when he begins to feel that craving for knowledge, what a wonderful year it will be in the school of Nodaway County," was the way he summed up the appeal.

The introductory part of Mr. Campbell's address was given to the discussion of what the country folks have meant in the making of America and the last part was devoted to the necessity for keeping the country life at its best for the welfare of our national existence. Many great examples of country boys, who played a heroic part in various phases of the development of our Nation, were cited by Mr. Campbell. It was country-bred men who wrote the Declaration of Independence, it was embattled farmers "who fired the shot heard 'round the world," it was a country boy, Horace Mann, who made the greatest advancement in the development of education among the common people of America, he said.

Daniel Webster, Andrew Jackson, Robert E. Lee, Abraham Lincoln, Frances Willard and Clara Barton were briefly spoken of by the speaker as "country boys and girls who had the cry in their hearts to learn and progress."

Progressing from the glorious records made by rural men and women in American history, Mr. Campbell went on to say that country life is now being drained of its young people by the industrial demands of today. Rural communities are in need of intellectual leadership very much and it is very much the rural school teacher's duty to do what she can in that direction, according to Mr. Campbell.

What will eventually happen if this draining process goes on is what the expert on rural conditions asked the Nodaway County teachers to consider this morning. "It will soon be like a fish pond from which all of the game fish have been caught and only the suckers and the bullheads left," Mr. Campbell asserted.

In the last five years the buying power of the farm has steadily gone down in America because of this loss of intelligent man and woman power, Mr. Campbell told this morning.

Co-operative marketing will solve the problem of greater purchasing power if the farmers can be taught to work together, and a movement is beginning in this country to teach the ideals and fundamental practices of this plan of farm buying in the public schools, Mr. Campbell says. The great problem, according to him is to get the farmers to work together. He told of paying to enter a circus side show this summer purporting to have something inside never seen before in the world. Inside the tent

Fulton Injunction Doesn't Have Chance

St. Joseph Attorney Bases Opinion as Result of Similar Case Brought Recently.

Mexico, Mo., August 26.—There is little chance of the injunction sought by the Fulton townspeople changing the course of the Kansas City-St. Louis state highway, in the opinion of Ben Phillips, St. Joseph attorney.

Phillips bases his belief on a suit recently filed by a small town near St. Joseph, attempting to change the routing of the state road. In that case the highway commission won the suit in the Circuit Court and the decision was upheld in a higher court. The contentions in both cases were practically the same, Phillips said.

DEBT TERMS MADE KNOWN

CHURCHILL SENDS PROPOSALS TO CAILLAUX.

FOR PERIOD 62 YEARS

France Will Have to Pay 12½ Million Pounds Sterling a Year, According To Terms.

London, August 26.—Great Britain's final proposal has been made to France for settlement of the debt, Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, announced today.

Great Britain asks that France pay twelve and one-half million pounds sterling annually for a period of sixty-two years upon the debt to Great Britain. Churchill stated that Great Britain insisted that payment of debt must be the sole responsibility of France.

Proposal made by Joseph Caillaux, French minister of finance, that France transfer to Great Britain her share of receipts under the Dawes' plan, was rejected, Winston Churchill said. Caillaux received these final proposals from Great Britain but he has reserved his decision, Churchill stated.

London, August 26.—Very slight hopes of an agreement were held out today when Joseph Cailloux, French minister of finance, and Winston Churchill, English chancellor of the exchequer, today opened their third day of negotiations for the settlement of the French debt to Great Britain. The British press was very pessimistic, holding out that American co-operation was the only chance for any agreement between France and Great Britain. British newspapers, despite the adverse reports from Washington, clung to the hope that the United States could be induced to act as co-ordinator in the settlement of both British and French debts.

London, Aug. 26.—It was reported in diplomatic circles this afternoon that an agreement of the terms of the French debt settlement has been reached by Winston Churchill, chancellor of the English exchequer, and Monsier Joseph Caillaux, French finance minister, subject to confirmation by the British and French governments, according to the Evening Standard here.

Bible Classes Will Meet Jointly Sunday

The Berean class and the Men's Bible class of the Christian Church will meet in joint session Sunday morning in honor of the Rev. and Mrs. R. E. Snodgrass. This meeting will be held at the I. O. O. F. Hall. This Sunday is the last Sunday that Rev. Snodgrass will serve as pastor of the local church.

City Council Makes An Inspection Tour

The members of the city council, together with W. O. Garrett, mayor, made an inspection tour last night. An inspection was made of the stucco work on the water tower and of the pavement on Filmore street.

A meeting will be held tonight by the council and it is probable that the pavement on Filmore street will be accepted by the city at this time.

Miss Dorothea Snoderly left today for Fortesque where she will teach the seventh and eighth grades and music in the public schools this year. Before the opening of school she will attend a teachers' meeting at Oregon.

INAUGURATE FIRST PLANS TO ADVERTISE NODAWAY COUNTY

COMMITTEE OF 5 APPOINTED AT BANKERS MEET LAST NIGHT.

'LAND OF OPPORTUNITY'

Congressman Shallenberger Speaks—A Formation of Association in County Urged.

By the appointment of a committee of five representative bankers of the county at the quarterly meeting of the Nodaway County Bankers' Association at the Country Club last evening to present a plan within thirty days for the formation of an association, initiatory steps were taken for the launching in the near future of an intensive campaign to advertise throughout the Nation the advantages of Nodaway County and the opportunities that await the prospective American citizen who might come here to make his home.

Need Faith in Our locality.

Faith in our own locality—and Nodaway County was spoken of as "a wonderful fertile land possessing the richness of soil that compares with the best—and faith in ourselves must be cultivated, before the opportunities of the county can be sold to others, was the predominating thought of the speakers and in the discussions that took place last night when more than thirty bankers of the county with their wives and families met at the Country Club.

Land Is Best Investment.

Emphasizing that an agricultural country is always the safest for continued permanency, that the wealth of the land and the weather are our best friends, Congressman A. C. Shallenberger, Alma, Neb., and former governor of that state, brought vividly before the assemblage the fact that Nodaway County is possessed of these attributes, saying that it must be because it is the greatest corn producing county in the Nation. Former governor Shallenberger said that he was once a banker and knew the ups and downs of the game. He spoke of the depression through which agriculture has undergone since the war and how it has affected the banking business, but it was his belief that the "turn has come and we are now climbing out of the depression" declaring that "agriculture is going to set this Nation on its feet. The first to feel a depression is land and the first to come to the front is agriculture," the former governor said.

Possibilities Are Unlimited.

Congressman Shallenberger advises that all the business men and all the bankers of the county get behind the movement that has been started to boost the land and the county. "The foundation of our wealth is our soil and is therefore the safest investment that can be made. The possibilities of the land becoming doubled and even trippled in price are feasible, even though you may think that the price is somewhat high, as you have here in Nodaway County the sources of wealth that are more valuable than all the gold and coal mines and forests, as it is always producing. The marvel of land is that you can't exhaust it," the Congressman told, saying that the most successful and prosperous are found in this section of the Missouri Valley.

In speaking of the character of a people that inhabit a rich agricultural section, Mr. Shallenberger said it has been proved that those who make their living from the soil represent the highest type of civilization and we find the best American civilization on the prairie soil.

"All the land that can possibly be put to corn is under cultivation and you people here possess land that has that peculiar value of producing the best and most corn," the speaker explained in order to impress the point that the land here will always be priced high, saying that the price of corn is going to continue to advance in the years to come because more uses are found for it every day.

Stresses Organization.

In speaking of an organization to further the county and advertise it to other sections of the Nation, Mr. Shallenberger said that three things were essential: Namely, 1, organization;

CALDWELL OUTLINES SEVERAL METHODS TO BANKERS.

A 3 YEAR CAMPAIGN

Suggested By Him—Would Bring More Families to Nodaway County He Thinks.

Discussing the possibilities of adding to the wealth of every resident in the county, D. A. Caldwell, secretary of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce, presented some views on a legitimate advertising campaign before the bankers of the county at the Country Club last night. Mr. Caldwell's idea was that a campaign, covering a period of years, of such scope as to present to the citizens of other sections could be set in motion that would forcibly show the multiple advantages of Nodaway County. Mr. Caldwell's speech in part follows:

"Before coming to this county it was my privilege during the past two years to motor over 25,000 miles in nineteen states, sixteen of which were west of the Mississippi River. During my five months in this state I have driven through thirty-nine of the 104 counties in this state. Nowhere have I seen, on everyhand such manifest evidence of prosperity and progress as I have found in Nodaway county. Nowhere is there any one county that is first in so many things, leading a great agricultural state in value of live stock, farm property, number of horses, cattle, swine, and automobiles; first in acreage and production of corn, and farm land acreage.

Should Tell Facts.

"If people in less fortunate sections of the country knew Nodaway county as you people know it, many of them would be anxious to come here to live. All that is needed to arouse their intelligent interest is to tell them the facts as they are. The truth not only is often stranger than fiction, but in this case, would be much more potent.

"Granting, for the sake of facilitating this discussion, that conditions here are good and much better than the average of the country, and that there are many people in other sections whose interest can be aroused by telling them our story; what remains to bring them to us?

"In the pioneer days of our great land, word-of-mouth, infrequent letters, and at best a few meager newspaper accounts of the experiences of hardy explorers, was sufficient to fire the imagination of our restless and rapidly increasing population, causing them to migrate in large numbers into sections of the country about which they knew little or nothing.

"Today, people want to have more definite knowledge about a new location before making a change. Selling land, sight-unseen has passed into limbo along with other customs of the good old days, 'before the war.'

Advises Advertising.

"Modern advertising methods have developed a procedure, whereby it is possible to add to the population and prosperity of any given community, providing it has even average opportunities to offer. Don't misunderstand me, I am not referring to blue-sky promotion, or intensive booming to create fictitious, speculative values, where the amount of effort put forth is diametrically opposite to the resources.

"Suppose, for instance that each one of you is but a typical example of the millions of people who have never heard of Nodaway County. Then one day you read a well-written advertisement in a nationally circulated publication telling about the advantages of this county as a place in which to live, and earn a living. You respond to the invitation to send for an illustrated booklet, and in a surprisingly short time receive a beautifully illustrated booklet, well printed on the best grade of paper, mailed in a special envelope. You look at the pictures, and read the story, and wish that you might know still more about this great inland empire that is so prosperous. So you fill out a questionnaire which was furnished you in order that information of a specific nature to fit your particular case can be more readily furnished you. Subsequent letters bring you the facts about which you wished to know, and you find that a live County Or-

COAL STRIKE IS IMMINENT

ALL HOPES ABANDONED FOR ELEVENTH-HOUR PARLEY.

SEC'Y. DAVIS IS HOME

This Is First Problem Confronting Him—John L. Lewis Preparing Order for Strike Call.

Hazelton, Pa., Aug. 26.—All hope of an eleventh-hour resumption of negotiations between anthracite coal miners and operators, which would avert the impending coal strike, was abandoned here today.

It was understood that the strike call was being prepared by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and would be issued at a time not later than tomorrow. The order will direct the 150,000 anthracite coal miners to walk out on September 1.

Even those most active to bring the operators and miners together and prevent a strike, today were anything but optimistic over the results of the "No Strike" parley, attended by Mr. Lewis.

Washington, D. C., August 26.—The outstanding problem confronting the secretary of labor, James S. Davis, who arrived in New York today from a trip to the British Isles, will be the impending anthracite coal strike, set to take effect September 1.

Secretary Davis went abroad at the direction of President Coolidge to study the industrial conditions in the British mines, textile factories and Welsh coal mines. He will probably be called immediately to Washington to gather together the loose ends of the coal situation and later may go to Swampscott, Mass., for a conference with President Coolidge. During his absence several employes of the Labor Department service were in attendance at the various meetings of the operators and miners and their reports are ready for his inspection.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 26.—In the event of the impending coal strike in the anthracite fields September 1, which was indicated today, an ample supply of smokeless bituminous coal is on hand to allay the suffering of the public for some time.

This statement came from a spokesman of the Pennsylvania Bituminous Coal Mines Co., which is a large operator of bituminous coal. While the Pennsylvania Bituminous Coal Mines Co. have been idle for nearly six months, it could be relied upon to furnish in great quantities in case of an emergency that the mines in West Virginia and Kentucky would be unable to tide over the industry during a strike.

Kansas Corn Crop Damaged by Drouth

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 26.—The Kansas corn crop has been greatly injured by dry weather during the past ten days, only the northeast section of the state having had sufficient rainfall.

The stocks of the corn are large, but the grains are not filling out, due to the hot, dry, weather, which has cut short the crop of the state by many bushels. All of Kansas is in need of rain.

Escaping Gas Causes Death of 2 Sisters

Kirksville, Mo., August 26.—Misses Emma and Minta Minnick, elderly spinsters, were found dead as result of gas asphyxiation here today.

Neighbors believe the sisters arose during the night intending to make some coffee, owing to the presence of a coffee pot over an unlighted jet.

The sisters had been planning to leave next week to make their home with a brother in Seattle, Wash.

Lane McGinness and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pfeiffer of Skidmore were in Maryville today.

The Weather

Fair to-night and brobably Thursday, slightly cooler to-night in the extreme northeast portion, rising temperature Thursday in the northwest portion.

SYMBOL OF GOOD CITIZENSHIP.

The cause of those who wish to establish a federal bureaucracy to oversee American education has never impressed its usefulness on the American people to whom the subject of education is something near and dear.

According to its press agentry, a federal department of education is an over-whelming demand on the part of the patriotic and fraternal orders, teachers,, schools, colleges, churches, parents, chambers of commerce and civic organizations. "Almost everyone who knows anything about it wants it."

On the whole, the only objection to that statement is that it isn't true.

Now there is a well-defined idea abroad among some of the teachers, schools, colleges, churches, chambers of commerce and civic organizations overlooked by the press agentry) that education is most completely successful when it is kept as close as possible to the home. This idea has taken on substantial propositions because, for one thing, local government has been notably adequate in matters of education.

To anyone with knowledge of school systems in Europe and elsewhere in the Old World, the American passion for educating the children, interpreted in terms of unequaled facilities, is the key of American progress.

There is a very real danger in any movement which injects into the school system a remote bureaucracy which, however well-meaning, could contribute nothing that communities are not already doing but could bring a chill official isolation into education life where, after all, good citizenship is the objective. And of good citizenship the home is the living symbol.

SLAVES OF FASHION.

The haughty stare from the wax figure in the dry goods store window has a purpose. Milady must look serenely proud, that the gorgeous gown or smart frock that graces her superb lines may not be out of harmony.

But all the short-sighted men who have tried to flirt with the wax model will enjoy this one comforting bit of news: The cold but alluring beauty is a slave of fashion, and with the advent of shorter skirts she is due to pass, only to be replaced by wax models of newer lines.

Every spring and every fall the wax models go forth from the fashion centers, to be garbed in stores like the local ones with all that is latest and daintiest in the way of personal adornment.

A New York designer has given out the secret. The mannequins have but a brief day of glory. Their unfaded tints, their shapely shoulders, will be sacrificed. Frigid half-smiles on their lips, eyes still frostily gazing to the beyond, they will go into the melting pot, to be made into creatures yet more fair for another season.

The latest weather forecast is, more summer.

A short word for wounded vanity is "grouch."

Engineer Defends Present Plans of State Cross Road

Says Proposed Change of Highway Two Would Cost State Large Sum.

Jefferson City, Aug. 26.—Thirteen points were advanced today by B. H. Piepmeier, chief engineer of the state highway commission as indicative of the commission's attitude toward the recent injunction filed by taxpayers of south Callaway County, holding up the completion of the cross-state highway.

The chief engineer maintained that the law directs the commission to locate and build the primary road (for those connecting the principal population centers of the state). Section 26 of the law, he said, permits that body to change designated routes when it is in the interest of economy and directness of route. The lower courts, he maintained, have in three different cases affirmed the commission's construction of the law.

Make Big Saving

Mr. Piepmeier asserted that the location proposed by the commission will save the state $250,000 in the construction of the road and "for all time to come" an annual saving of $1,000.

Other reasons advanced by the commissioner in favor of the scheduled routing were: That it is the most direct route between Kansas City and St. Louis; that the department policy serves to accommodate all, not one locality; that if the route is changed to suit the injunction petition 95 per cent of traffic will travel at least four miles farther, thereby increasing cost to the motorist; that the location of the route in the north part of the county would serve a greater population than the proposed southern location.

Would Destroy Gravel Road.

The commissioner said the location as fixed by the commission will give Fulton a direct connection with route 2, by way of route 15, at the same time affording close connections to Mexico, Auxvasse, McCredie and other towns. The same location, he maintained, is through a rich agricultural community, and provides a direct connection with Fulton, the market center of the county.

"If the road is built as located, there will be two hard-surfaced roads east and west across Callaway county," said Mr. Piepmeier. "If the road is built as asked in the petition, the existing county gravel road east and west across the county will have to be completely destroyed and a concrete road built in its place."

Coal Prices Advanced on St. Louis Market

St. Louis, Aug. 26.—Coal prices have advanced on the St. Louis market for the second time this month.

Seven local coal companies announced a seven dollars a ton price on Southern Illinois soft coal to dealers. This is twentyfive cents higher than the price of Monday.

On August first the big coal companies advanced the dealers price from $6.50 to $6.75.

The latest price increase according to the coal company officials is due to two reasons. First on account of the threatened tie-up of the Eastern mines, and because the dealers throughout the county have been retailing coal at a minimum profit during the past few months.

I. C. Wants to Protect the Spooners

Recently the road was granted permission to construct a fence around a curve of the line in the city.

The reason for the fence is that spooners are wont to park along the right of way and the road desired to protect them.

Capt. Hansen said he learned of the ban on American trading in the northwest territory while at Herschell Island, which is in the territory where Americans are refusing to change registry of their vessels, he reported.

Sentence Is Passed on Dorothy Ellingson

Judge Louderback Gives Her From One to Ten Years an San Quentin Prison.

San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 26.—Dorothy Ellingson must spend from one to ten years in the San Quentin prison.

Sentence was passed on the 17 year-old girl by Judge Harold Louderback, following her conviction last week by a jury of seven women and five men, who found her guilty of manslaughter.

At the request of her attorney, Walter McGovern, a five day stay of execution was granted by Judge Louderback, which will delay commitment to San Quentin until next Monday. McGovern said that the stay of execution was asked to enable the girl to make preparations for the prison sentence.

"I am satisfied with that sentence," she remarked to McGovern as she walked out of the court room, he said. Dorothy will be at the county jail until Monday when she will be taken to San Quentin.

were three farmers all pulling together.

Mr. Campbell said that it was his belief that if this movement can be put over in the public education that a great deal will have been done toward making a lasting economic and social foundation for the American commonwealth.

Those who would stab their country in the back are not coming from the rural communities but from the hotbeds of industrial unrest, Mr. Campbell said this morning in defense of the loyalty of the farmer to his country. If there is to be an America a thousand years from now it will be because we build a stable economic and social rural commonwealth in the America of today, Mr. Campbell believes.

Following Mr. Campbell's speech Day Baker gave some brief directions to new and inexperienced teachers about the opening of school.

The early part of the morning was taken up by County Superintendent L. G. Somerville in explaining parts of the September bulletin given out from his office and to other instructions of a technical nature to the teachers.

The program of the Nodaway County Health Department in connection with the rural schools of the county was outlined this afternoon by Miss Margaret Davison, county health nurse.

The work of making physical examination of the rural school children will begin as soon as school starts. Those children who have never been examined before by the department will be given a complete physical examination and those who have been examined previously will be weighed again and new height measurements will be taken. Those who had defects, as shown by previous examinations, will be examined again this year for the same defects as an additional check.

The department will make suggestions this year to the teachers and to the parents of children having defects for symptoms of unhealthy conditions and every effort will be made to secure aid for those unable financially to pay for minor operations to cure defects that are retarding the progress of the children.

The practice of having a hot lunch in the school with at least one common dish was taken up by Miss Davison and she also advocated making the lunch hour more of a formal affair to aid in proper mastication and digestion of food.

The hand washing drill will be introduced in the schools this year.

Miss Davison also gave some instructions on what action to take in case of communicable diseases in the schools, and the proper time to secure vaccinations.

Toxin anti-toxin will be given to school children in the county again this year as last year and the Schick test will be given to find out whether or not the children are rendered immune to diphtheria by the toxin anti-toxin.

Examinations of children of preschool age will also be made this year.

John Mutz, a representative of the James Edward Gray post of the American Legion, gave an address on the proper uses of the American flag to the teachers of the county.

County Leads in the Teachers' Association

Nodaway County lead all counties in Northwest Missouri State Teachers College district in percentage of teachers enrolled in the State Teachers' Association last year, with a total per centage of 104.15 per cent enrolled, according to Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools. Some of the professional people of the county enrolled in the association, thus making the percentage more than 100.

The entire northwest district leads all other districts in the state in percentage of teachers enrolled in the Association also, Mr. Somerville said, with a percentage of 99.9.

At present Nodaway County is leading all others in the district in enrollment again this year, according to a letter received by Mr. Somerville today from the officers of the Association. The teachers at the meeting at the High School building today were enrolling for the year in the Association.

FISH

FOR HEALTH

This section of the country is known as the goiter belt. In recent years a lack of iodine in food and drinking water has been recognized as one of the most important causes of goiter. Various scientists have demonstrated that it is necessary to have a small amount of iodine in food or drinking water to enable the thyroid gland to function properly. The iodine contents of sea fish will not only prevent the goiter, but has a tendency to cure a mild case.

It is in accordance with our policy of catering to the wants of the public to enable them to serve a well balanced meal that we are handling a variety of fresh fish every day.

This week we have—Black Bass, Croppie, Baby Trout, Catfish, Halibut, Buffalo and Salmon.

Corn Is Damaged in Uplands Last Week

—The weather of the week ending Tuesday morning, August 25, was changeable. The beginning was hot—about as hot as any time in July; afternoon temperatures ranged around 100 degree value. 106 at Warsaw being the highest. The heat was followed by a cool spell but there was a reaction to normal warmth at the week-end. There was a large amount of sunshine. Good rains fell over most of the state, except the southern-third on the 19-20th. The hot, sunshinny weather was favorable for advanced crops, and the rain benefited late crops and put the ground in good shape for plowing.

Lack of sufficient moisture during the pollination stage quite seriously damaged upland corn in about ten southwestern counties having Benton and Hickory as the center; in some of the Ozark counties and in a few of the southeastern counties. Additional rains may help some late corn. In general, the main crop made fair to excellent advance, except in the mentioned dry sections. It is well eared. With dry, warm, sunshinny weather the bulk of the crop will safely mature by September 20th or 25th.

Pastures are good in most sections north of the Ozarks, and late forage and truck crops are doing well. A fair to good apple crop is the outlook for most of the Ozark orchards and also in the Missouri River hills. Plowing for fall seeding is well along, except in dry sections.

As a rule the weather was favorable for cotton; it continues to fruit and bloom. Picking has begun on a small scale.

What Jerry Says

This is the story of William K Steel.
His car was wobbling side wise a good deal,
His sweetheart was cuddling close to his side,
And William was taking her out for a ride.
The upraised hand of Neal, the big Cop,
Caused William to bring his car to a stop.
Why don't you use both hands said Neal,
Said Will, I das'nt let loose of the wheel.

TELLS OF IT'S GROWTH

L. B. Tenney Stresses Need for Success of Small Local Organizations and Greater Knowledge of Principals.

By Harry Bloombargh
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Philadelphia, Aug. 26—The success of 1,784,000 American farmers, representing products worth more than $2,000,000 annually, depends in a large measure on the individual agriculturist, Lloyd B. Tenney, assistant chief of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, told members of the American Institute of Co-operation here recently.

"The great pyramid of co-operation is built with more than a million and a half blocks, each one of them representing an American farmers," Mr. Tenney said. "Any of these blocks is of the keystone of the pyramid. If one of the blocks fails to do its part, the structure will not be perfect."

Mr. Tenney drew a graphis picture of the growth and co-operation in the United States from the first small organization of farmers in 1856 up to the present time.

He stressed the need for the success of each of the small local organizations and the need for a greater knowledge of the ideals and principles of co-operation by the individual.

"A cooperative creamery was formed in Orange County, N. Y., in 1856 and in 1863 a farmers' creamery was started in Montgomery County, N. Y., that has functioned continually since that date," Mr. Tenney said.

"All of the early associations were attempts to serve the farmers of a small area, generally communities about single shipping points. The membership was small in each organization. In the very nature of things, the enterprises were democratic in character. Naturally, with this kind of co-operation, the associations were performing functions which could be performed near the places of production and in most cases, were leaving undone those things that require contracts with far-distant points."

The government official put special emphasis on the great advantages of the local in bringing the farmer members into close contact with the problems involved and in that way obtaining a real interest and sympathetic attitude toward the co-operative idea.

Church Conference at Elmo Full of Interest

By EDGAR O. WELLS, Minister

Two beautiful services last Sunday, with Dr. English at his very best, wherein he held his congregation in continual expectancy as just when another great climax would come, and after more than forty-five minutes of these, This Jesus, "Who was wounded for our transgressions, and bruised for our iniquities," his death became ours, and when he rose, we rose with him, and through that resurrection, we came forth to new life in Christ Jesus, and his life of sacrifice," becomes our sacrifice for others.

The quarterly conference held by Dr. E. B. Thompson, while not largely attended, was full of interest, and enthusiasm, and the pastor and wife were given a vacation, until the first Sunday in September, during which they will visit in Maryville, Bolckow, and worship at the South Park Methodist church Saint Joseph, Mo., with the family of their son, who are members thereof, and of which he was pastor for nine years. They will return by the way of Mound City, where they will attend the fall session of the district Conference returning on Tuesday night. Sunday School at 10:00 a. m. Be sure and attend, and your pastor requests you to attend worship at the Methodist Church, where Rev. E. J. Speer will preach the last sermon for the conference year. See, Psalm 133. 1-3.

Senator George W. Norris.

Fighting the battles of the nation's minorities is the chief hobby of Senator George W. Norris (R., of Neb.), leader of the Senate's so-called "independent bloc" and chairman of the Agricultural Committee.

From every corner of the country comes a daily stream of petitions for relief. Under this deluge the Senator gravitates naturally into a role of defending minorities everywhere that men feel they were not getting a square deal from the Government. In addition, he has made the doctrine of Government ownership his pet hobby.

To fit himself for these battles, the Senator spends most of his spare time reading literature—economic reports, historical data, political articles. Government statistics are a sort of "desert" to a dinner of "constitutional decisions."

For lighter reading the Senator likes the works of Dickens. To him the author's novels are great because they "point a moral."

"I love a book," he explains, "whose author has written with the purpose of righting some wrong or correcting some evil. That was the way of Dickens."

Fond of Motoring.

Of recent days Norris has become a motorist. He learned to drive his own car after much careful practice. In the evenings he takes long rides with Mrs. Norris into the surrounding Maryland or Virgina hills. This Summer he plans a motor tour of Canada to see the Canadian experiments in the municipally owned electric power companies. That,, incidentally, will be a preparation for the fight pending in the new Congress over the disposition of Muscle Shoals.

The Senator has one pet aversion. It is to have his policies mistaken for those of a Socialist, or his own political beliefs for Socialism.

"I have no use for Socialists," he says. "I despise their doctrines and don't believe in them at all. And I hate to have people, ignorant of my beliefs, mistake them for socialistic dictrines."

Norris indulges in no sport. In his youth, however, he was a good ball player, an expert rifle shot and a good rider.

Inveterate Smoker.

Smoking is a hobby, too, though he won't admit it. He has been smoking now for forty-two years, and the tobacco people have over-looked a bet in failing to get his testimonial. Here it is, anyway:

"Smoking never hurt me, and I've been an addict of tobacco since I was twenty-one years of age. Several times I've stopped smoking when my friends told me I had a habit that I couldn't break. I wanted to see whether I could quit, and if I couldn't—well, by God! I was going to. But I found I was master of the habit, so now I smoke continually."

The Senator is a modest dresser. He always wears black bow ties, and it is his boast that he can "tie 'em in the dark."

He has a secret weakness, too. It's a relish for "boiled ham and cabbage." That makes him the "Mister Jiggs" of the Senate. He also is a radio bug and spends many hours on the radio machine in his home. On Sunday evenings the Senator usually links up the radio with some church service to hear the choral numbers. In his youth, Norris sang in the home-town choir, and ever since he's been partial to choral music.

Has Few Diversions.

Though the diversions in his life are few, Norris has no regrets. He really is engrossed in his public service—in the battles for the rights of minorities. That actually is a hobby with him.

"The majorities need no defenders; they have too many voices now in our Government," he explains. "It is the weak minorities who need help and champions. To serve them is a thankless task, but has its own reward in one's conscience."

Tomorrow—Senator Royal S. Copeland.

ADVERTISING A FARM.

Farms need advertising as much as any line of business. Nothing comes in these days unless you go out after it.

The United States department of agriculture believes in advertising for farmers. Among their ideas the following are included:

Bulletin board on front gate of farm, stating products.

Name the farm, and have same printed on letter heads and envelopes.

Printed labels and wrappers for produce.

Business cards.

And most important of all, advertising in the newspapers. An advertised farm quickly becomes known for miles around as a progressive farm.—Sturgeon Leader.

CALDWELL OUTLINES METHODS TO BANKERS

ganization is also interested in you and willing to do anything possible to be of service to you. Finally, when they inform you that by getting in your car and spending a few days in a pleasant trip you can see for yourself whether or not the story has been truthfully told, you come to Nodaway County and are pleasantly surprised to find that if anything, the facts have been under estimated.

"Perhaps you may be foot-loose and able to settle here right then, or perhaps you must return to your home with the promise to yourself of coming at the first opportunity. In either case the county has won a new friend and made a booster who will be the means, either by mail or directly, of interesting your friends in the place of your choice.

Bring Families Here.

"Suppose in a year's time twenty-five families come here under such conditions, and the next year, through their assistance and a continuance of the publicity work, the number is increased to fifty, and the third year seventy-five. These figures, are of course, purely hypothetical, and serve merely as an illustration. Today the average family is considered as being four people. One hundred fifty families is 600 people, or an average of 200 per year for three years, that would be living here, eating food, wearing clothes, producing, paying taxes, and saving.

"That in itself would justify the advertising cost, for at present in spite of the fact that the birth rate is higher than the average for the state and more than double the death rate, Nodaway County is showing little or no population gain. Which means simply this, that people are leaving the county much faster than they have been entering it.

"But aside from the benefit from without, there will be additional gains from within. First the scattering individuals whose indebtedness is such as to prevent their continuing in their present locations, and you all know that there are such, can sell at fair prices to someone with resources enough to succeed where they can never hope to, and can then invest his equity in a smaller place that can be handled at a profit. This will at one and the same time decrease the indebtedness in the county and increase the investment. There is no surer way to reduce taxes than to secure more people to help pay them.

Psychological Effect.

"A third more intangible, yet never-the-less real benefit to all concerned will be psychological in nature. You all know people who have the means to invest in real estate who are waiting for prices to go still lower before buying. When the first few legitimate sales to outsiders at fair prices are made, these people will wait no longer, but will get busy. The first ten sales should produce twenty others. Not long ago 160 acres in the northern part of the county sold for $250 cash. This is well above the average, but shows that people from other states have money to invest in Missouri. It is safe to say that every farmer within a two-mile radius of this farm feels better today about his investment than he did before the sale was made. Confidence in agriculture can be restored by a few sales.

"My understanding of the purpose of this meeting is to discuss at length the suggestion that has been frequently made of late, that such a program as outlined would be a good investment for the people of this county to make. The question should be decided upon its merits as to whether or not it would be advisable and desirable. The mechanics of the execution of the plan could well be left to an advisory committee of this organization. You are all urged to approach the matter with an open mind, for while it may be a more or less new and revolutionary idea to many of you, there are others of your number who have given it much thought, consideration and serious investigation.

Should Appeal.

"The question of finances has been purposely left out of my discussion because of the fact that if you decide that the idea is meritorious the finances can be taken care of without a great deal of difficulty, nor the imposing on anyone of a heavy burden. The elaborateness of the campaign would, of course, depend upon the amount of money available, and whatever is decided upon should be with a definite understanding of not less than three years, because the experience of all advertisers is that a given sum will produce more results spread over several years than expended in one year without the necessary follow-up. The man who isn't a live prospect this year, may become one the year after or even later.

"Such a campaign for Nodaway County should make its appeal to the type of people who have been most successful here in the past, and with an especial attempt to interest new lines of endeavor for which there is every reason to believe there is a good chance of success. Such a special line would be dairying, not as an intensive activity, but as a profit producing addition to the diversity already practised.

"When you have given this matter your best thought, I believe you will agree that in no other way can a good county be made better so easily or economically. The action of this meeting will have a far-reaching effect that will still be felt ten years from now."

THE KEY TO SUCCESS

Success depends primarily on a healthy liver and stomach. You can not think straight if these organs are not working properly. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy is usually successful in such cases. Our advice to everyone troubled in this way, especially when accompanied with bloating in the stomach, is to try this remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practicaly all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitic. At all druggists.—Adv.

COMMITTEE OF FIVE APPOINTED

2, organization; and 3, organization. The time is now opportune for an organization and you have the right thing in mind. "When you have made Nodaway County the best county in the state and the best in the Nation, then you have accomplished something." Mr. Shallenberger concluded.

Bankers Are Optimistic.

Congressman Shallenberger was followed by D. A. Caldwell, secretary of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce, whose speech is found in another column. Burt M. Rowley, president of the Nodaway County Bankers' Association, who presided called upon three of the St. Joseph bankers who were present. Max Andriano, R. R. Ridge, and R. S. Brittain, all were of the opinion that banking facilities were never better and congratulated Maryville on the splendid stability of its banks. Mr. Ridge said business conditions have not been better since 1920 and credits are now easier.

G. L. Wilfley, Maryville, George Cole, Barnard; G. P. Shoptaugh, Elmo, and C. D. Bellows, Maryville, gave their expressions, favoring the formation of an organization for advertising Nodaway County.

"The Nodaway County Missouri Development Association" was suggested for a name by Mr. Bellows. The thought was brought out that Nodaway County has ample room to take care of an increase in population, and a campaign to sell Nodaway County to local residents were all advocated.

Mrs. Fred Wolfers sang two solos immediately after the dinner. The Yehles orchestra furnished music during the dinner hour.

Those present at the dinner last night were:

M. D. Adams, R. R. Ridge, R. S. Brittain, Max Andriano, H. W. Honaker, St. Joseph; Mr. and Mrs. George P. Shoptaugh, Elmo; Elizabeth Flynn, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Fryar, Mr. and Mrs. Fay Casteel, Thelma Stoneburner, Ravenwood; Carl Wray, Mary B. Hildebrandt, Mary Wray, Guilford; H. E. Nigh and G. E. Bird, Parnell; Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Robb, Pickering; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lyle, C. E. Linville, Skidmore; E. C. Wolfers, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Donlin, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pistole, Hopkins; H. C. Bailey and H. A. Bailey, Quitman; Charles A. Teson, Clyde; Albert A. Felix, Conception Junction; Mr. and Mrs. Z. Rollan Alexander, Elmo; Mr. and George W. Cole, Barnard; R. C. Wilson, Guilford; E. E. Tougher Than Racing

Sig Haugdahl is an auto racing driver and as such is used to fighting it out with competitors for supremacy on the saucers. But in all his career he never experienced as tough a battle as this 116-pound tarpon put up in the sea off Daytona, Fla., recently. Sig fought over an hour before he succeeded in landing the monster, which towed his 30-foot boat three miles out from shore.

HARMONY

There was an unusually good attendance at all the services Sunday. The services have been interrupted so much the last few weeks by rains and muddy roads, that it was quite encouraging to have a normal attendance again.

Miss Alta Moore was the leader in the Christian Endeavor meeting in the evening. The orchestra is now a regular feature of the Sunday School and Endeavor meetings.

The pastor will be absent at conference next Sunday and there will be S. S. in the morning, and in the evening the C. E. will be responsible for the entire service. It is planned to occupy the regular preaching hour with a literary and musical program, in which the members of the C. E. will be assisted by others of the congregation.

The pastor, accompanied by Miss Ogle McKee and Miss Mildred Fanning left Tuesday morning for Farrar, Iowa, where they will attend a Young Peoples Conference that convenes at that place, a few days prior to the regular meeting of the conference. The young ladies will return Friday, but the pastor will remain over for the conference immediately following.

The ladies of the M. E. Church, South, will serve a Fried Chicken dinner in the Social Service Room of the Methodist flats at 12 noon Thursday.

There is an acute shortage for farm labor, according to reports from the Chamber of Commerce this morning. This is the first shortage that has been noticed for about three months.

Farmers are getting ready for their fall work and need farm hands. If there are any who desire jobs they should list their names with the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, either for permanent or temporary jobs.

Chicago Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, August 26.—Grain prices worked in sharply lower levels on the Chicago Board of Trade today. The slump carried coarse grains into new low territory. Softness in corn added to the weakened undertone. Cash prices were decidedly lower.

Selling by prominent professionals was regarded by long holders as a signal for liquidation.

As a result there was a general jumping of grain on the market, carrying enough bids to absorb about half of the orders.

Corn was weakest. General selling was in response to a favorable crop news and heavier movements.

Trade in oats was light.

Despite higher hogs, provisions weakened in sympathy with other grains.

OBITUARY.

Della May Argo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Argo, was born Dec. 18, 1904, and passed away in Skidmore Aug. 19, 1925, aged 20 years, 8 months and 1 day. She had lived her entire life at the present family home. She attended the Eureka school until she completed the grades. Her first year of high school work was in the Daleview High School and the past year she attended the Skidmore High School.

Della united with the Burr Oak Methodist Church Dec. 8, 1912, and since that time has worked faithfully for the Master's cause. There was no work too hard for her to do when it was done for another. Tasks others might avoid she smilingly did and never murmured. When the Epworth League was organized Della was one of the first to respond and always held its banner high, never shirked a duty, and when the storms were fierce, you could count on her being at League.

The Burr Oak choir has a vacant chair and an alto voice that is stilled. The orchestra has a violin less which which will be missed. The B. O. B. Sunday School class has lost its most faithful member. All these speak for the life of Della Argo, though it was short will ring through the ages.

She leaves to mourn her going her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Argo, two sisters, Alta and Myrtle, and four brothers, Virgil Horace, Kan.; Ivan, Merlin and James, at home. She leaves an aged grandfather, J. T. Hays, of Maryville. Her grandfather Argo preceded her to the House of Many Mansions last June.

She waits on the shores of the Great Beyond to welcome the many uncles, aunts and cousions in so many differents parts of the country. The friends and Burr Oak community will miss bright and cheerful Della.

GEN. PERSHINK'S SON SHATTERS TRADITIONS

LABORS IN AUTO SHOP

Paris Newspapers Full of Accounts of Warren Perishing's Energy and Initiative.

By FRANK E. MASON
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, Aug. 26.—Sixteen-year-old Warren Pershing, son of Gen. John J. Pershing, has sown the seeds of a social revolution that may shatter one of the oldest traditions of the best families of France. Warren Pershing has gone to work. While French boys, who consider 25 years a good age to begin to look for a job, are playing tennis or swimming at the seashore, Warren, dressed in grimmy overalls, is prespiring in a Paris automobile repair shop as a mechanic's apprentice.

The Paris newspapers are full of accounts of Warren Perishing's energy and jnitiative. French fathers, who themselves never worked until the age of 25 or 30, are beginning to suggest to indolent sons that if an American general's son can work at the age of 16, during his school holidays, they should make themselves useful at the age of twenty.

Astride Mudguard.

Simone Tery's interview with Warren, published in Le Quotidien, is typical of the stories in the Paris press.

"I found the son of the American generalissimo astride the mudguard of a limousine. His head was buried in the motor. From behind he had the appearance of a large Teddy Bear, dressed from head to foot in grimmy, greasy khaki.

"'Is your work interesting?' I asked.

"Warren jumped and turned toward me the face of a child. Sixteen years? He appeared to be no more than thirteen. His peaches and cream complexion is surmounted by a wealth of beautiful blond hair, apparently curled by the angels. Under eyebrows so blond as to be almost unnoticeable, his small blue eyes appear a little hard and cold.

"'How did you happen to have the idea to leave your school in Lausanne and spend your Summer vacation working here?'

Dad O K'd the Plan.

"'My father thought it was a good idea, and so did I.'

"'Were you ever in Europe before you started going to school in Lausanne?'

"'Yes.'

"'Where?'

"'Oh, around—everywhere,' with a vague wave of the youngster's hand, as he continued his work.

"'Are you homesick sometimes?'

"'No.'

"'You're well pleased to be alone?'

"I've always done what I wanted to.' He appeared to think over this last answer which bothered him. He decided to correct it. "That is, I've almost always.'"

Quitman Will Play Conception on Sunday

The Quitman baseball club will play at Conception next Sunday, according to word from Quitman this morning. Last Sunday Quitman defeated the strong Pickering nine by a score of 5 to 4.

Some Swimmer

Richard Hallibutron, of Memphis, recently swam the Dardanelles at the point where Leander drowned and Lord Byron made his famous swim. He accomplished his daring feat against a high wind and a strong tide. He is said to be the only person who climbed the Japanese mountain Fujiyama, alone in winter

Henry Ford Wants Someone to Invent a Mechanical Cow

New York, Aug. 26.—Henry Ford is looking for someone to invent a mechanical cow.

"I don't believe in dairy cows" the automobile manufacturer says in a copyrighted interview published in Farm and Fireside.

"Someone will invent a way to make milk systematically. It will be cheaper and better milk than we have now," Ford predicts.

"Dairy cows are the most inefficient creatures in the world. Why should a farmer spend a lot of time tending a bunch of cows? It takes only 20 days of actual farm work to grow and harvest the crops on a dairy farm. The rest of the time is spent taking care of the animals. It's all wrong."

Ford, according to the article, then launches into "farmer ills."

"The trouble with farmers is that they spend too much time milking cows and taking care of all their other animals. That has got to be changed.

"In the future" he predicts, "farms will be larger and they will be run more systematically. The little farmers will have to go. They are back numbers."

'Shooting Dan McGrew' at the Empire Tonight

Telling the whole story connected with what is perhaps the best known poem in America, the Sawyer-Lubin production of "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," a Metro picture, will play tonight and Thursday at the Empire Theater.

As the result of a popular vote, Barbara La Marr, Lew Cody and Percy Marmont were chosen to play the famous roles of The Lady Known as Lou, Dangerous Dan McGrew, and the Stranger. These players are supplemented by a cast that includes Mae Busch, George Seigmann, Max Ascher, Philippe de Lacy, and many others.

Robert W. Service's story of the Yukon has been brought to the screen with life-like vividness."

Not only has the splendid climax been faithfully reproduced, but the events leading up to it have been worked out in full. Service wrote his poem from an actual incident of the gold rush in the Yukon, and the Metro picturization has gone a step further and told the whole story of this tragic encounter between two men.

A delegation of more than 100 dairymen, representing ten counties of the state will leave St. Louis September 11, by bus for the National Dairy Exposition at Indianapolis, Ind., September 16-18, according to word received by D. A. Caldwell, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, from Prof. E. M. Harmon, of the dairy husbandry department of the extension service.

Enroute to Indianapolis the Homeman Guernsey herd at Danville, Ill., will be inspected by the dairymen. On Tuesday the Schlooser creamery at Frankfort will be visited. Between there and Sheridan two or three good dairy farms will be the object of the dairymen's inspection. The 242 mile run back to St. Louis is expected to be made in one day.
